Nearly $90 million in federal stimulus funds have been awarded in Marin under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, much of which has been devoted to promoting a green economy. But as new economic inroads are being paved, how do we ensure that stimulus benefits are reaching families hit hardest by the recent recession?

In an effort to advance this dialogue and initiatives around Recovery in Marin, you are invited to join other local, regional, and statewide leaders to explore topics related to the Federal Stimulus and Green Job Development during an upcoming summit hosted by the Grassroots Leadership Network of Marin. Participants will:

- ✓ Learn about the New Green Economy and Green Industry Expansion
- ✓ Hear from guest panelists at the forefront of the Green Jobs Movement regarding the State of the Stimulus and Job Creation in California and Marin
- ✓ Be informed about new and upcoming employment programs in Marin
- ✓ Develop policy strategies around the Federal Stimulus and Green Jobs
- ✓ Network with other key players in the field

Interested partners are also invited to be part of the Economic Development Task Force, a sub-committee of the larger Marin County Equal Voice Coalition. Based on the strategies developed during the summit, Task Force members will work collaboratively to leverage the resources of its members and advocate for policies and programs that increase equitable job and job training opportunities, particularly in expanding green industries.

The summit is a private event and provides community stakeholders from various sectors an excellent opportunity to learn more about each other, the Green Economic Movement, and the Marin County Equal Voice Coalition.
